
A low dose of medication still alters skin healing and requires advice from the prescriber.
A tiny puddle yields a spectacular wipeout.