
Clients under anaesthesia lose the ability to tell the operator that the procedure is becoming intolerable.

The peace and quiet was wonderful until they realised the stoic warrior was simply asleep.