
Local anaesthetics can produce toxicity when administered in excessive total doses.

They also completely ruin the friction coefficient of standard studio furniture.