
A long tattoo session under anaesthesia can conceal hypothermia and prolonged immobility.

Excavating the canvas from the survival gear takes longer than the actual artwork.