

The margin on one tattoo does not compensate for turning a preventable screening failure into a prolonged customer-service case.
The thrill of artistic rebellion inevitably ends with an adult crying over an administrative spreadsheet.