

A tattoo studio is not automatically equipped to assess airways, manage drug interactions, or rescue a patient from an anaesthetic emergency.

Green soap makes an overwhelmingly disappointing defibrillator.