

Disrupted epithelialisation delays fistula formation, leaving piercing tracts chronically inflamed and unable to seal.
The supreme commander embraces a permanent mopping protocol.