

The medication causes significant skin fragility making the tissue highly prone to friction injuries.

International oversized shipping rates unexpectedly applied to the client