
Topical retinoids make the application area sensitive and must be stopped completely before a procedure.

The nighttime skincare routine escalated to entirely unnecessary levels.