
The specific claim that the daith corresponds to a vagus nerve branch point has not been validated by neuroanatomical imaging.

Squinting really hard is a recognised imaging technique.