
Major medical organisations consider daith piercing for migraines an unproven intervention and do not recommend it.

The neurologists are just jealous of our cool aprons.