

Steam autoclave cycles cause acetal to overheat, embrittle, and thermally degrade.
The quest for ultimate sterilization ends in absolute vaporization.