

Strong acids and chemical bases quickly degrade acetal surfaces.
Aggressive chemistry proves to be a terrible substitute for gentle soap.