

Acetal is categorically nickel-free because its polymer structure contains no metallic elements.

The machine remains deeply suspicious of trousers.