
Fresh healing tissue is exposed to wound fluid and changing acidity.

The detective realised his morning coffee was just weak acid eroding his peace of mind.