

Dermal collagen declines as we age, causing the skin to lose structural protein and scaffold support.

Trouser suspenders are completely ineffective at holding up the epidermis.