
Studio owners must treat published product safety alerts as immediate stop signals for matching inventory.

The ferns are now demanding their own safety data.