

Packaging must carry the address and telephone contact of an established local supplier rather than solely an overseas manufacturer.

Waking up someone across the globe for a simple question is socially unacceptable.