

Red tattoo pigments frequently cause allergic reactions that extend to orange and magenta pigments sharing similar chemistry.

We are transitioning entirely to the invisible spectrum.