
Vibrant and pastel pigments are highly vulnerable to photodegradation and require absolute priority protection.

The black outlines felt slightly left out of the intense defensive manoeuvre.