

Biocompatible polymers cannot leach metal ions or trigger metal allergies because they contain entirely non-metallic elements.

Pure plastic flawlessly deflects the invisible attack.