
The continuous chanting of the master provides the ritual context and should not be disrupted for personal photography.

Halting an intense spiritual invocation to adjust a ring light ruins the solemn mood for absolutely everyone involved.