
Sacred syllables chanted by the master are not meant to be repeated in a language the recipient does not understand.

Enthusiastically lip syncing to a solemn traditional blessing as if it were a pop anthem is an innovative way to embarrass oneself.