
The oxide is roughly 30 nanometres thick and produces gold.

Precision engineering for microscopic rust