

The vaporised atoms condense on the jewellery surface, forming a thin film typically 0.5 to 5 micrometres thick.

Atom wrangling requires delicate suction