

Above 110V, the oxide becomes thick enough that the interference effect degrades into muddy grey-brown tones.

Absolute power creates absolute mud