

Bacterial metabolism produces acidic byproducts that significantly lower the localized acidity level around the site.

Counteracting acidity with a full alkaline shower is a massive overreaction.