

Bioresorbable polymer coatings degrade over time and steadily release antimicrobial agents as they dissolve.

Intense martial arts poses will not accelerate the degradation process.