

Bacterial metabolism drops the pH at the infection site from 7.4 to as low as 5.5.

A single paper napkin should easily handle the acid leak.