

The marketing for pain-free procedures hides the severe physical consequences of masking natural limits.
The glossy brochures somehow forgot to mention the mandatory intubation tubes.