

The global piercing market is substantially larger than the tattoo market because piercings require ongoing jewellery upgrades over time.

The quest for the mythical titanium barbell continues.