

The domestic tattoo industry remains completely fragmented with independent shops rather than corporate chains.

Behold the terrifying might of the independent artisan.