

Nickel allergy remains the most common contact allergen in the industrialised world.

Completely defeated by a discount clothing accessory.