

The domestic tattoo industry is highly fragmented with no dominant corporate chain.

The turf war between identical shops continues indefinitely.