

Strict regional directives drastically cut nickel sensitisation in the highest-risk demographic.

Bureaucracy is the ultimate finishing move.