

Roughly 23% of non-earlobe piercings develop a complication requiring some form of intervention.

A little bit of drama is part of the charm.