

Nickel-allergy prevalence in young European women dropped from 19.8% to 11.4% following the EU Nickel Directive.

An international treaty successfully upgraded a Tuesday afternoon shopping trip.