
Vibration against tissue directly over bone transmits strongly because the membrane covering the bone is highly sensitive.

Becoming a human tuning fork loosens the heavy armor chassis.