

Cartridge packaging encourages a false sense of uniformity across different needle groupings.
Matching boxes entirely failed to guarantee matching tools.