

Cheap body jewellery carries separate risks of bacterial infection from poor surface finish and nickel sensitisation from unknown alloys.

The wizard of shiny bargains strikes again.