

A true infection is microbiological and involves bacteria colonising the piercing site.

The germs requested a corner suite.