

Cartilage has very little blood supply, causing the immune response to be slower and less effective.
The delivery driver took a long detour.