
Removing jewellery without professional guidance can trap an infection inside a closing wound. The germ is throwing a housewarming party.