

A piercing with nickel-containing jewellery provides exactly that: 24-hour contact with an open wound for weeks.

An uncomfortably long social engagement.