

A reputable artist can explain their sealed workflow without turning the conversation into an argument.

A wounded ego is harder to bandage than a fresh piercing.