

An impulsive tattoo placed on the forearm during youth can halt career advancement years later.

Time travel would solve a lot of administrative issues.