

Feeling significant physical resistance during an insertion attempt indicates that the stretching process must stop immediately.

Ignoring the absolute limits of the physical universe requires heavily padded safety nets.