

Need a better angle.

Behold the discovery!

Tissue folding through the piercing channel often appears as a raised lip on the back of the earlobe.

The elaborate mirror maze successfully proved the existence of the back of his head.