

If the jewelry is painfully tight, seek help from a qualified piercer rather than forcefully ripping it out. The hardware store approach continues to yield spectacularly suboptimal results.