

Stretching an earlobe too quickly replaces healthy elastic tissue with dense scar collagen that does not stretch well.

Building a brick wall inside your body makes for a terrible rubber band.